Evaluation criteria for the annual prizes:

The applications submitted at the official KOMF email address, will be subject to three stages of evaluation; Administrative evaluation to check if the application folder is complete, quality evaluation from the external Independent Commission to choose the winners and the validation of the winners from KOMF.

STAGE 1: At the administrative evaluation stage, the following will be assessed:

- 1 The application has been submitted within the deadline specified in the call.
- 2 The application folder is complete (as it is defined at the criteria).
- 3 The application has been submitted by e-mail.

STAGE 2: At the quality evaluation stage of the external Independent Commission, the following will be assessed:

- 1 The importance of the article/work.
- 2 The impact in improving the position of children in the society.
- 3 The structure of the article/work and the variety of resources.
- 4 Respecting of the ethical principles and professional standards when reporting on children.

STAGE 3: The articles chosen from the external Evaluation Commission will be subject to the review and validation process from KOMF panel, who will assess:

- 1 If these articles are in accordance with all the standards.
- 2 If these articles are in accordance with all the procedures.
- 3 If these articles are in accordance with all the principles of child protection.

KOMF, Organizata për Fëmijët pa Kujdes Prindëror – OFAP, SOS Fshatrat e Fëmijëve Kosovë and KMOP strongly encourage all journalists who have stories of all types, that focus in child rights protection and that aimed contribution toward improvement of social protection and social services decentralization process, to apply for the three prizes that will be awarded this year.
